I enjoy Crestview High School very much. There are many extracurricular activities and social events. Teachers genuinely care about their student's education. However, I believe the can be kept in better shape, hygiene wise. In addition, I believe students should have a bigger voice about what goes on in the school. On a good note, the safety of the school is exceptional. Crestview High School is a fun place to be while maintaining a good education.

One thing I love about Crestview High School are all the opportunities available. Next year, which will be my senior year, I will be starting a nursing program through the school. This program will allow me to intern at a nursing home and become certified in several certifications such. I have already receive my Basic Life Support certification this year and can't wait to continue my experiences. On the other hand, I would like to see more engaged teachers, sometimes it feels like all they want is to do the bare minimum instead of going the extra mile to help students.

I would like to see more cleanliness. The bathrooms around the school r in very poor condition. Even though this fake is partially on the students, the restrooms should always be running nicely and be fully stocked with paper towels and toilet paper. Other then cleanliness and organization I believe the school is very well. As for organization this also apply to affirming all students and teachers are aware of things happening in the school. On many accounts have I not been aware something was happening until the day of. They do post online; however, not everyone goes online just to learn what is happening they expect to be notified specifically.
